

San Francisco Chronicle

Modern home for a large family in Carson City

A striking modern home with bespoke finishes, grand dimensions and grand views awaits in Carson City's exclusive Clear Creek Tahoe community. The gated enclave encompasses more than 2,100 acres includes a golf course, a 3,000-square-foot house designed by Julia Morgan and a 20,000-square-foot clubhouse that's under construction.

The five-bedroom, four-and-a-half-bathroom contemporary at 266 Redding Way is the key to unlocking all the Clear Creek Tahoe community has to offer. Boasting an open floor plan, grand dimensions and seamless indoor/outdoor flow, the 3,650-square-foot home also features a pair of bedroom suites with walk-in closets.

Designed to accommodate large groups and families, the home provides a wealth of comforts and conveniences. The residence includes golf cart parking, a separate laundry area and ski storage. Its oversized mudroom offers a place to shed outdoor gear and transition into the luxurious abode.

A voluminous great room with a wood-paneled ceiling serves as the heartbeat of the home. An elongated gas fireplace warms the great room, as a built-in bench rests nearby. Large windows frame views of the woodland setting, while gallery walls provide the perfect place to display artwork.

Details

Address: 266 Redding Way,

Carson City, Nevada.

Price: $3.195 million.

Features: Clean lines, voluminous dimensions and high-end finishes define this five-bedroom, four-and-a-half-bathroom in Carson City's exclusive Clear Creek Tahoe community. The residence boasts an open floor plan with oversized windows and gallery walls. Professional appliances outfit a chef's kitchen revolving around a center island. The residence includes a pair of bedroom suites, each featuring walk-in closets and spa bathrooms with walk-in showers. The Clear Creek Tahoe community is a gated development occupying more than 2,100 acres near Lake Tahoe. Community amenities include pools, sport courts and fire pits and a clubhouse, as well as the Twin Pines Lake & Ski House, which was designed by Julia Morgan and stands just four blocks from Heavenly Mountain Resort.

Contact: Clear Creek Tahoe, 775-781-2597